Description:

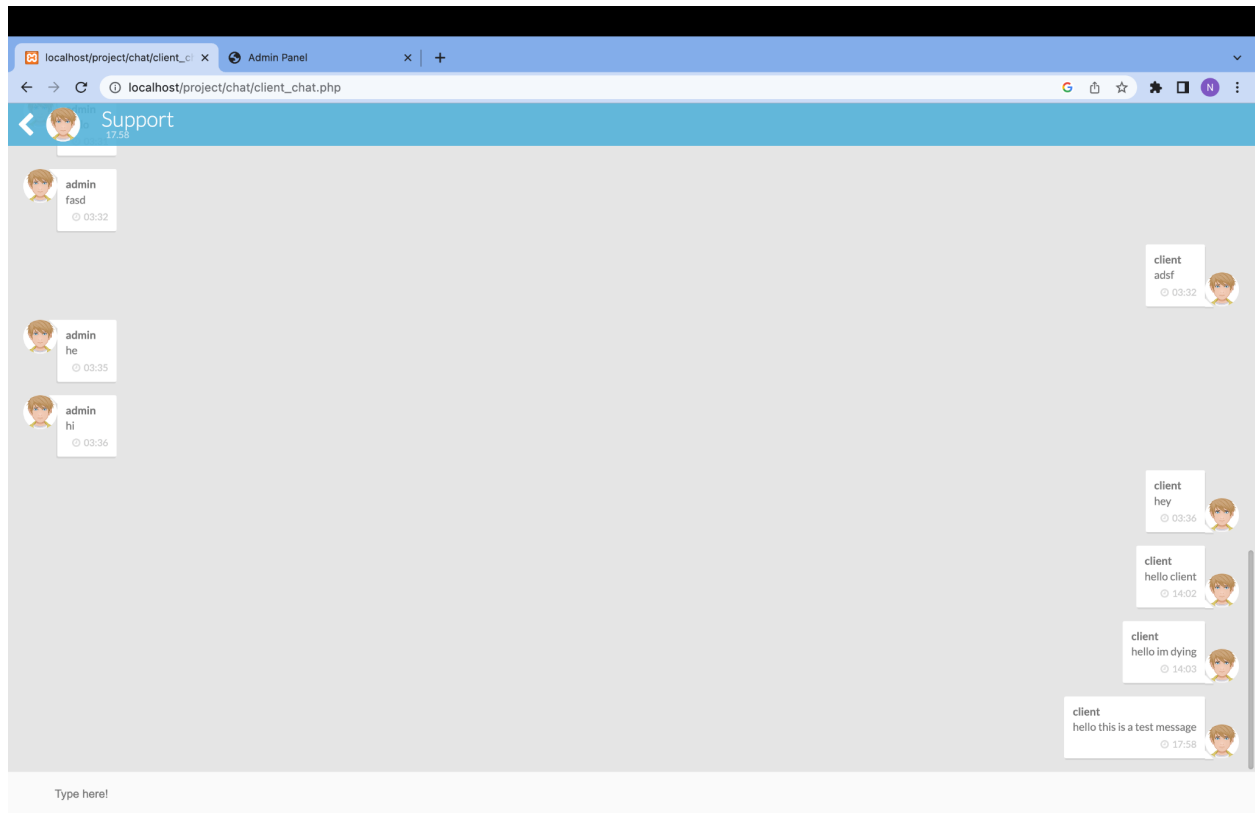

Our Key Features

Take a look at some of our key features

There is a support page button provided on the main webpage for the clients to access and chat with customer support.

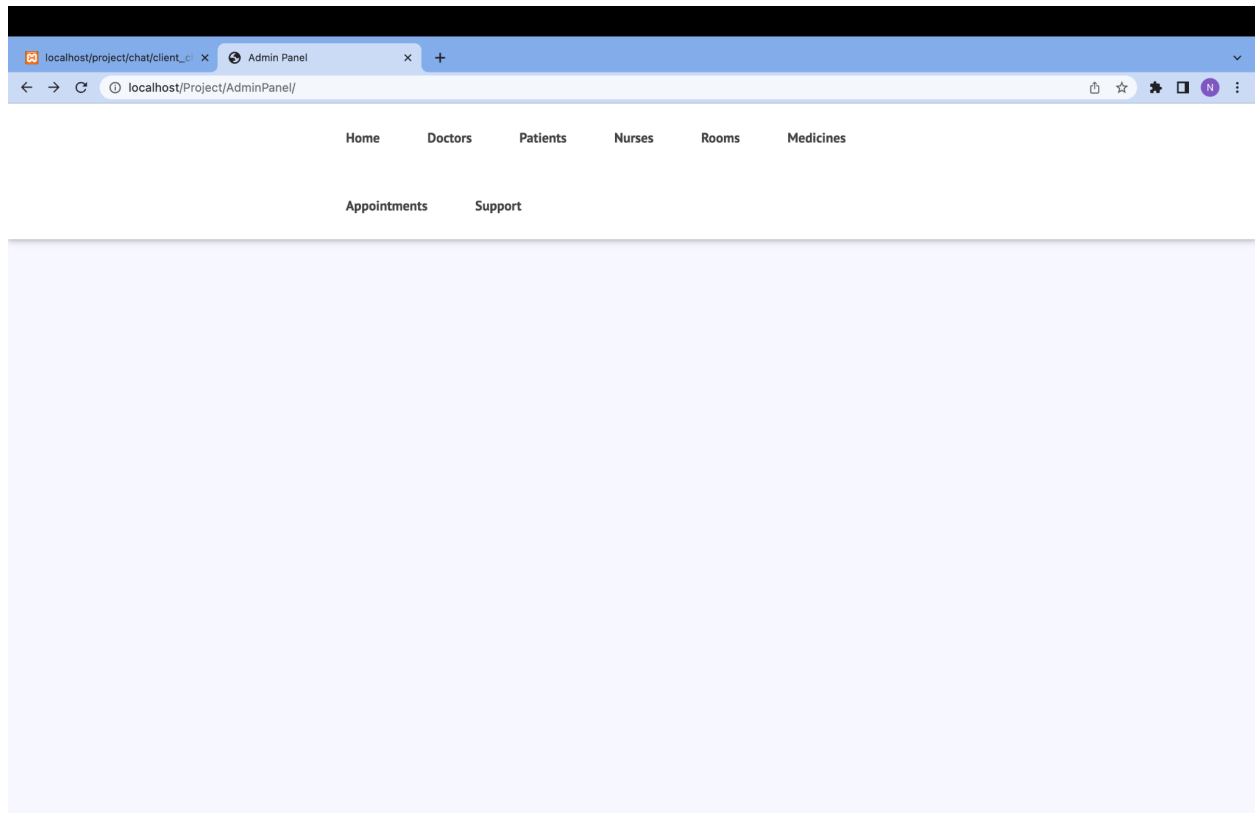

Once you click that button, the support page for client is accessed where they can chat with the admin regarding anything and go back to their main page.

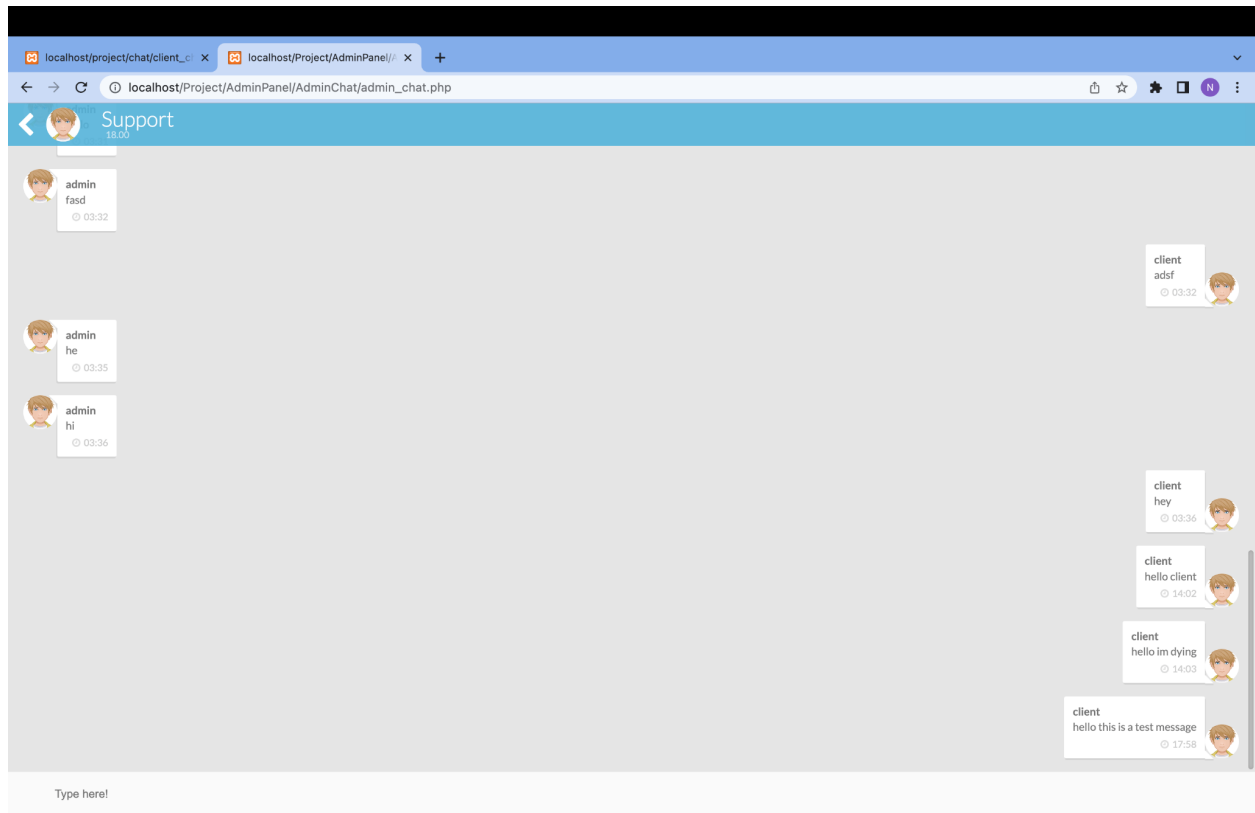

As you can see the last message is a test message to show the chat is working perfectly.

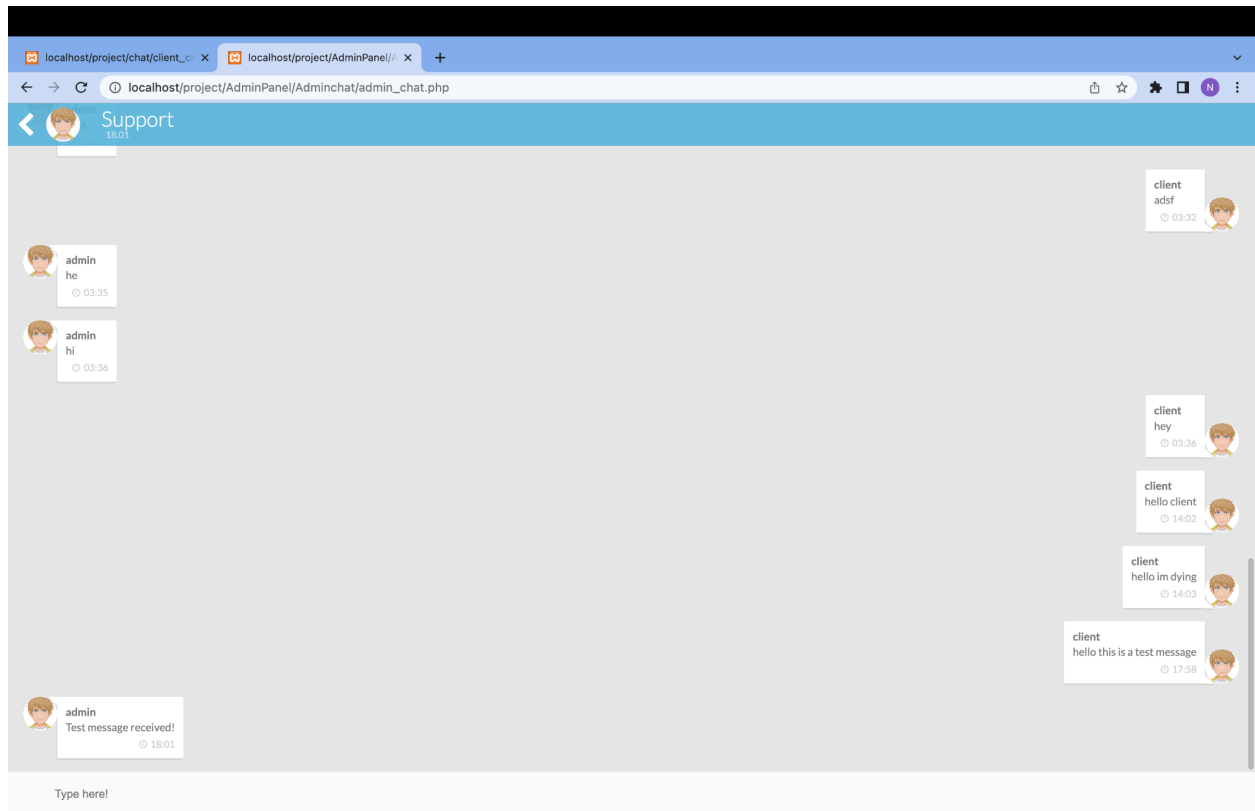

Admin Side:

This is the access button to the support page for admin from the admin panel.

Once you click the button you are reached to a support page for the admin panel.

As you can see, the last message is the test message from the admin panel to test if it is working correctly.
