

We created our custom domain and zone, and checked it with the nslookup command. Then we changed our computers DNS server and checked the domain with the ping command. Then we created a html file for our domain, and viewed it in our browser.